The Artist

:papercutz is about adventurous pop music. Pursuing a balance between acoustic and electronic sounds on instrumental and vocal tracks, Bruno Miguel's young band has resulted from his love of live instrumentation, organic electronics, dream like melodies, pop vocals and cinematic piano ambiances.

The Album

"Do outro lado do espelho (Lylac ambient reworks)' marks the end of a chapter for :papercutz and simultaneously opens a door for a new one. I've grown fond of the ambient genre over the years (much because of my love for movie soundtracks) and it started to rise when working on Lylac's textural ambiances. Although it's tucked underneath the album's song structure, I only really truly realized what was there when playing the songs live and when the first :papercutz remixes came out, what the artists saw in the music besides the actual pop song. This dreamy, ethereal, cinematic aspect of :papercutz's music is something I'm keen to pursue on my next original works but I believe it has blossomed on this album by the hand of some very talented artist whose work I deeply respect. Do outro lado do espelho (transl. From the other side of the looking glass) means that this is their vision of the album's songs in their particular artistic world...an ambitious project indeed. So as all of the work that spun from the first day I started writing Lylac ends with this release and a new process follows, I couldn't hope for a better start" - Bruno Miguel | :papercutz
